Those are the rules in Bavaria:

Going out restriction

Going out restriction means that all people must stay at home. And when you meet other people. Then you should keep a distance of 1.5 meters.

All restaurants must close because many people meet here. And the people can get infected. The exception is: A restaurant sells takeaway food. Then the restaurant may remain open. And the restaurant may also bring food to the people at home.

No visiting

Some places are now no longer allowed to be visited. Namely these places:

Hospitals

The exceptions are:
If a woman has had a child, the family may visit the woman. But this only applies to close relatives. If a child becomes ill. Then close relatives may visit the child. You may visit someone even if he dies soon.

Nursing Facilities

In a care facility there are people who need to be cared for.

Facilities for people with disabilities

If people with disabilities live there.

Homes for the elderly

There are old people living here who need someone to take care of them.

In Donau-Ries, accommodations for asylum seekers are also no longer allowed to visit. Only people who live there may now go to these places. Or who work there.
All people must stay at home
You may only leave the apartment if you have an important reason.

Here come important reasons:

When you have to go to work
When you need to see a doctor.
Or if you want to give blood.
Or if you have to take an animal to the vet.

When you have to go shopping for something important. What you need every day. These are the stores you can go to:
Supermarkets and beverage stores. Stores for pet food. Shops where you can send parcels and mail. Shops where you can buy glasses and hearing aids. Pharmacies and drugstores. Banks, petrol stations and car repair shops. You can also bring mail to the letter box. And you can take clothes to the cleaners. You are not allowed to go to other shops, for example to the hairdresser.
If you want to move around outside.

For example: If you want to go for a walk. Or if you want to do sports. But you must do it alone. Or with people you live with. You can't form a group.

If you have animals to take care of.

Control by the police

The police check that everyone follows the rules. If you're being checked. You have to tell them why you left your apartment. If you don't follow the rules, you can get an administrative penalty. That can be a fine, for example.
